

LEADERS IN ADVANCED MICROBIAL TECHNOLOGY FOR AGRICULTURE

Food Matters!

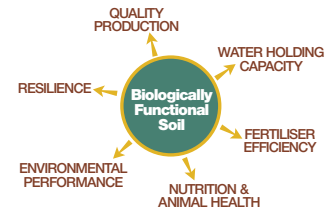

All farming either directly or indirectly produces food for humans. The manner in which we fertilise and nurture our soils and the inputs we choose to use in food production are of critical short and long term importance.

For me it is personal - for reasons too many to expand on here - but suffice to say that my personal mission and driving motivation is the elimination of poisonous chemistry in the food chain.

Our company's unique microbial technology and agronomic systems are a powerful contributor to this end and I invite you to enquire.

I congratulate the Food Matters conference organisers on their determination to bring this event to New Zealand.

Steven Haswell, Owner & Managing Director, BioAg.

- Biological soil & foliar amendments
- Superb BAP
Biologically activated phosphate.
- Comprehensive holistic fertility programmes

